

Dream Traveler

We dream at every dreaming landscape simultaneously, yet we remember dreams in our own unique way.

The dreaming landscapes –where we go in dreams– are based on time: the Dreaming Landscapes of What Is, the Dreaming Landscapes of What Was, the Dreaming Landscapes of What Could Be, and the Dreaming Landscapes of What is Eternal, but it is only one aspect that helps us build a dreaming profile; what we do in the dreaming landscapes, how open the gate to these landscapes is and how we access them are the other three main factors.

Profile

As the Networking Dreamer, the Dream Traveler visits the Limbo Tunnels, but the gate to the dreaming landscapes is even more open; otherwise, the amount of sensory information related to traveling could not possibly get back.

A notable difference between the Networking Dreamer and the Dream Traveler is that the first one may connect directly with someone but miss the surroundings; dream traveling is about the places, and it feels as if we were physically there. Most of the time, we wake up exhausted or have difficulty anchoring ourselves back in this reality.

Landscapes

Limbo Tunnels are huge; we could be traveling only to places within the 3D that we already know and then expand into locations we didn't know existed on this planet. Later on, we may begin traveling to space –other planets or galaxies.

As fantastic as this is, the mind still holds a tight grip on these experiences, and unlike a Dream Time Traveler, these dreams are of the present time.

Tips

Check DreamWorlds out, an interview from Aberdeen & Linda Hoppe to Adamus Saint Germain, a straightforward yet profound approach that may help you gain a new perspective on dreaming. No, we don't get commissions on it, but if it helps, let us know.
